

Grandpa Was A Preacher: A Letter To My Grandson

By Reverend Claude W Black

AUTHORHOUSE, United States, 2006. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 203 x 127 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Grandpa was a Preacher: A Letter to My Grandson is an intimate look at the life of Rev. Claude William Black. As a pastor, civil rights icon, humanitarian and politician, Rev. Black has captured the hearts of thousands with his advocacy for issues affecting senior citizens, children, mentally handicapped and less fortunate. The memoir opens with his upbringing in a segregated neighborhood on San Antonio s eastside as son of a Pullman Porter and grandson of slaves. The reader receives great details about his desperate search for personal meaning and purpose in life. He shares the foundations for which his ministry has been built including the incidents that resulting in the creation of an African American credit union and several social service agencies. The role of Rev. Black with the Civil Rights Movement in San Antonio and within both the National Baptist Convention and American Baptist is examined. This memoir is ended with 90 year old Rev. Black s observation on the world of today.

READ ONLINE
[8.24 MB]

Reviews

Unquestionably, this is actually the greatest function by any author. I was able to comprehend every little thing using this created ebook. Its been printed in an remarkably straightforward way which is merely following i finished reading this ebook in which in fact altered me, alter the way i think.

-- Arianna Witting

An exceptional book as well as the font used was exciting to read. It is actually rally intriguing through reading time. You will not sense monotony at anytime of the time (that's what catalogues are for about when you ask me).

-- Crystel Hagenes