For the truth and accuracy of his descriptions of its modern inhabitants Lane still remains unequalled, but he has almost exclusively confined himself to the people of the capital; on the subject of country life, and especially on Upper Egypt, we possess merely the reports of travellers. In the whole of Upper Egypt only a few Europeans have hitherto settled, and these are almost exclusively Greek traders, who are not in a position to utilize their experiences by giving them to the world; still less is this to be expected of the natives themselves. Accurate observations and judgments cannot be attained by a bird's-eye view, but only by living on terms of intimacy with the people as one of themselves (like Lane), gradually getting acquainted with their manners, customs, and religious observances, and especially their language, and for this a fixed abode and much time, study, and self-denial are necessary.
