In the event of its coming 25 on to blow hard from the northward and there is no pilot on board, it will be best to stand over to that side of Hervey bay which affords most shelter, and anchor. Strong northerly winds generally haul to the eastward, and shelter will then be found on the Great Sandy island side, in Platypus bay. The west side of Hervey bay does not afford 30 such good anchorage, as shallow water extends farther from the shore. In entering, when Woody island is distinguished bring the two hummocks on the island just touching, keeping the higher of the two to the eastward, which will lead near to Fairway...
