

India's Labouring Poor: Historical Studies c. 1600-c. 2000

By Rana P. Behl and Marcel van Der Linden (ed.)

Foundation Books, New Delhi, India, 2007. Hardcover. Book Condition: New. Dust Jacket Condition: New. First Edition. Recent years have witnessed a renewed interest in the historical studies of labour in India and other parts of the world. Apart from the study of the industrial workforce, labour history has been enriched by the scholarly attention to migratory mobile labour, lives of artisans, women and peasant migrants to plantations within India and overseas. Earlier the major emphasis of labour history research was on the core countries such as US, Canada, Europe and Japan. Now research on the labour history of the capitalist peripheries is growing and is increasingly attracting international scholarship. An urgent need is felt for reconstituting the older frameworks which had revolved around fixed binaries of space, time and social relations. Labour historians have to increasingly content with the existing notions of Contents Notes on contributors Frontispiece Preface Introduction Working Across the Seas: Indian Maritime Labourers in India, Britain, and in Between, 1600-1857 The Brickmakers' Strikes on the Ganges Canal in 1848-1849 On the Move: Circulating Labour in Pre-Colonial, Colonial and Post-Colonial India Mobility and Containment: The Voyages of South Asian Seamen, c.1900-1960 Power Structure, Discipline and Labour in Assam...
